

ISO 9001:2026 Transition Self-Study Course

1-year access | PECB ISO 9001:2026 Transition exam included

The ISO 9001:2026 Transition training programme is intended to aid learners in understanding the main distinctions between ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 9001:2026. It provides a clear summary of the updated standard, emphasising the new and revised requirements, and the key concepts introduced in ISO 9001:2026.

The 2026 edition strengthens the emphasis on leadership, quality culture and ethical behaviour, while clarifying how organisations address risks and opportunities to support better decision-making and an effective QMS.

- A comprehensive self-study course
- Exam and certification fees and a second chance are included
- A set of official training materials is available to download
- The estimated learning time is 14 hours
- You will have access to the platform during 1 year, with 24/7 technical support and additional resources

COURSE AND LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this self-study course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the purpose and scope of the ISO 9001:2026 revision, including its response to evolving business conditions and customer expectations.
- Identify and interpret the main changes compared with ISO 9001:2015, while recognizing the continuity of the process approach and PDCA framework.
- Explain the stronger emphasis on quality culture and ethical behavior, and its implications for leadership and the organization.
- Distinguish between risks and opportunities and understand the updated requirements for planning changes to the QMS.
- Assess how the revised requirements affect an existing QMS, including organizational context, support, operations, performance evaluation, and continual improvement.
- Understand how to transition and update a QMS to meet ISO 9001:2026 requirements and support customer satisfaction and organisational performance.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

This training course is intended for:

- Those who want to remain up to date with the requirements of ISO 9001 and update their certificates
- Individuals seeking to understand the differences between ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 9001:2026
- Professionals responsible for transitioning a QMS from ISO 9001:2015 to ISO 9001:2026
- Managers, auditors, trainers, and consultants involved in maintaining or auditing a QMS

The self-study format is ideal for professionals with busy schedules or those who prefer to learn at their own pace.

PREREQUISITES

There are no formal prerequisites for attending this course. However, prior knowledge of ISO 9001:2015 and the fundamentals of a quality management system (QMS) is strongly recommended. Experience in implementing, maintaining, or auditing a QMS will help participants relate the changes to their organization. No prior ISO 9001 certification is required.
