PECB Certified ISO 31000 Risk Manager Training & Exam

Implement a risk management framework in compliance with the ISO 31000 standard

A three-day training course to become a PECB-certified ISO 31000 Risk Manager.

All human activities involve risks. One of the most recognised and widely adopted approaches to managing risk is outlined in ISO 31000. It is a framework to help organisations of all types and sizes manage any form of risk that could impact their objectives. In today's uncertain world, effective risk management is essential. It helps organisations anticipate challenges, seize opportunities, and make informed decisions.

- Acquire the knowledge and ability to integrate risk management based on the ISO 31000 standard into your organisation
- Gain a comprehensive understanding of the principles, framework and process of risk management
- Learn practical methods and techniques to identify, analyse, evaluate and treat risks in various contexts

B2B Learning offers an all-in-one package including training from an accredited and experienced trainer, official PECB training materials, a PECB exam with a second chance, certification fees, lunches and coffee breaks.

COURSE & LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The ISO 31000 risk management guidelines are the focus of this training course, which provides participants with the essential knowledge and skills to apply them in practice. The course focuses on interpreting and implementing the principles of risk management, establishing a context-specific organisational framework, and improving decision-making through a structured risk management process.

Upon completion of this training programme, participants will have the following competencies:

- explain the fundamental concepts and principles of risk management;
- establish and improve a risk management framework based on ISO 31000; and
- implement a risk management process based on ISO 31000.

COURSE AGENDA

Day 1: Introduction to ISO 31000 and the establishment of the risk management framework

Day 2: Initiation of the risk management process and risk assessment according to ISO 31000
